D. Statement

I certify that the State of __South Carolina__ can make the assurances checked as 'yes' in Section II.A and II.B and the certifications required in Section II.C of this application. These provisions meet the requirements of the Part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act as found in PL 108-446. The State will operate its Part B program in accordance with all of the required assurances and certifications.

Section III

Description of Use of Funds Under Part B of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act - 20 U.S.C. 1411(e)(5); 34 CFR §300.171

States must provide the Description of Use of Funds by completing and submitting the Excel Interactive Spreadsheet with the 2009 Application.

Describe how the amount retained by the State educational agency under 20 U.S.C. 1411(e)(1) will be used to meet the following activities under Part B. (20 U.S.C. 1411(e)(1)-(3), (6) and (7)) The Department annually identifies for States the maximum amounts that a State may retain under Section 1411(e)(1) and (2).¹ The dollar amounts listed in the Excel Interactive Spreadsheet by the State for administration and for other State activities should add up to less or equal to the dollar amount provided to the State by the Department for each of these activities.

Enter whole dollar amounts (do not enter cents) in appropriate cells on the State's Excel Interactive Worksheet. The Excel Interactive Spreadsheet must be submitted as part of the State's application.

*Note-Figures were used from the 2008 application. The figures will be updated once the 2009 allocation is received. See Appendix C.

Describe the process used to get input from LEAs regarding the distribution of amounts among activities described in the Excel Interactive Spreadsheet to meet State priorities. (20 U.S.C. 1411(e)(5)(B); 34 CFR §300.704)

South Carolina retrieved input from LEAs and stakeholders by conducting web meetings and soliciting comment through electronic correspondence. A Power Point presentation was provided to all LEAs and stakeholders in preparation for the web-based meetings (Appendix A). Respondents provided the following comments relative to South Carolina's expenditure of state-level funds:

Make sure to use more funds to "Excent" so that it is compatible with "PowerSchool".

Response to Intervention (RTI)- fund this component of "Excent" as a pilot.

Direct comments from LEAs and stakeholders:

I am all in favor of competitive grants for districts that are related to our needs as stated in our SPP. These grants must be a collaborative arrangement with districts. In other words the SC Autism Society or CEC must tie into district initiatives. The collaboration could be between districts, IHE, or agencies. This forces us to collaborate in order to work toward the same goal. The building of exemplar programs at the practitioner level is essential for program implementation. I do think there must always be some money set aside to help districts in need that may not have the capacity to develop competitive programs. Susan

¹ Each State may reserve for each fiscal year not more than the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve for State administration under this section for fiscal year 2004 or $800,000 (adjusted in accordance with 20 U.S.C. 1411(e)(1)(B)), whichever is greater; and each outlying area may reserve for each fiscal year not more than 5 percent of the amount the outlying area receives under 20 U.S.C. 1411(b)(1) for the fiscal year or $35,000, whichever is greater.

For each fiscal year beginning with fiscal year 2005, the Secretary shall cumulatively adjust: 1) the maximum amount the State was eligible to reserve for State administration under this part for fiscal year 2004; and 2) $800,000, by the rate of inflation as measured by the percentage increase, if any, from the preceding fiscal year in the Consumer Price Index For All Urban Consumers, published by the Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor.

We would like for the state to keep in mind the needs of our students when deciding on the expenditure of state-level funds. Although we are considered a public school district in the state of SC, our schools receive less money per student than traditional schools. At present, our charter school students receive about $3,000 per student as compared to $10,000 per student for the traditional school. This puts our students at a disadvantage from the start. Considering that, and the fact that a child with a disability requires extra accommodations, specialized instruction, and has exceptional needs, to name just a few, the disabled student enrolled in a charter school does not receive the benefits they deserve. They are receiving services as required by law, but many at a bare minimum. We would just like to be on the same playing field as the other state districts.

We thank you in advance for considering our request. The improvement of student learning, increasing learning opportunities through the use of innovative teaching methods, and assisting South Carolina in achieving academic excellence is our top priority and the reason for our existence. We hope that you will allow us to continue this mission.

Public Participation

South Carolina has complied with the public participation requirements of GEPA and 34 CFR 300.165. Per requirements outlined in OSEP's October 12, 2007 memorandum to the States on procedures for receiving a Part B grant, South Carolina posted its State Application for Part B funds on our website at www.ed.sc.gov and invited comments from the general public through legal notices posted with the state's largest circulating newspapers. The legal ad read as follows:

In summary, a state application must be available to the general public for a period of sixty days and an opportunity for the general public to comment on the application must be provided for a period of thirty days prior to finalizing the application for submission to the United States Department of Education, Office of Special Education Programs. The Department will accept comments on the application until April 30, 2009. All comments will be reviewed and considered and any necessary modifications completed. A copy of the application may be obtained by contacting the Office of Exceptional Children at 803-734-8224, on the Department's Web page located at <http://www.ed.sc.gov/> under the Office of Exceptional Children, in the office of programs for students with disabilities in any school district in the state, and all state agencies with educational programs for students with disabilities. Slide 12

How does SC spend its state level activities funds?

- South Carolina uses its state level dollars for required and optional authorized activities by retaining dollars for the required activities, flowing supplemental dollars to the LEAs, collaborating with various organizations, targeting dollars to the LEAs for designated purposes, and allocating dollars for universal data collection and IEP development
- For 2008-2009, South Carolina received $15,482,076 for state level activities. This amount has not been determined for 2009-2010. However, the CEC is still seeking input from stakeholders. The following slides show what was allocated for state level activities.

Slide 13

Uses of state level funds and examples...

- $850,000 is retained at the state level for monitoring, enforcement and complaint investigation (for example...salaries of attorney, complaint investigator and paralegal; training for hearing officers, due process costs, and cost of hearings).
- $8,500,000 flow through as supplemental grant awards to LEAs and are included in the IDEA awards.

Slide 15

Uses of state level funds and examples...

- $1,000,000 Extended School Year Grant (awarded to districts based on numbers reported)
- $1,000,000 Group Home Grant (awarded to districts based on numbers reported)
- $2,800,000 Excent (universal data collection and electronic IEP program)

Slide 14

More about supplemental awards...

These supplemental dollars enable districts to meet the requirements of the IDEA. In other words, 56% of the state level activities dollars are added to the flow-through dollars as the "supplemental part" of the IDEA grant. The rest of the state level activities dollars are spent as follows:

Slide 16

Uses of state level funds and examples...

- These dollars fund targeted projects and collaborations. Examples of targeted projects include Project CREATE, Project SLP(addresses personnel shortages), State Improvement Grant (positive behavior supports), Assistive Technology Project (use of assistive technology), and the Research to Practice (personnel development and use of scientific based research).

Slide 17

Uses of state level funds and examples...

- Examples of collaborations include services provided by South Carolina School for the Deaf and the Blind, ProParents, SC Autism Society, Federation of Families, Department of Mental Health, South Carolina Council for Exceptional Children, Global Technologies, National Stuttering Association, and Special Olympics.

Dear Name:

This packet includes the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA '04) application for Part B funds and allocations for your district, state operated program, or Head Start program for the 2008–09 school year. The packet includes the preschool grant for children with disabilities, ages three through five years, and/or the entitlement for children, ages six through twenty-one years, as appropriate. The packet also includes the Assurances, Certifications, and Statement (including Charter School Assurances for charter schools that are part of the LEA), and the ED Form 80-0013 Certification Regarding Lobbying. The district superintendent, state operated program director or agency head, or Head Start program director must sign both documents and have the signature notarized for the Assurance, Certifications, and Statement. Both documents must be on file with the Office of Exceptional Children before these grants may be awarded.

For both grants, the distribution of funds under the IDEA '04 is comprised of a base allocation, an amount based on population in the age range of three through five or six through twenty-one, and an amount based on the number of children living in poverty. Funding components are derived from data collected through the December 1 count, Free and Reduced Lunch Report, 135-day average daily membership report, private school enrollment report, and the state's allocation of funds from the Office of Special Education Programs.

The IDEA '04 grant award includes supplemental amounts for a regular supplemental allocation and a base supplemental allocation. These funds originate from monies available for state-level activities.

Personnel Development

This packet includes, as appropriate, the awards for personnel development. Beginning with FY 2009–08, the funds awarded for personnel development activities will be included with the IDEA '04 allocation. You will see this amount located on page 5 of this letter. This amount is awarded from state level activity dollars, not from your flow-through allocation. Districts may use these funds to pay for professional development activities to improve outcomes for students with disabilities. Funds cannot be expended to attend national meetings.

When completing the narrative within the IDEA '04 grant application, please describe how you will expend your personnel development dollars. If you have any questions regarding completion of your narrative for personnel development, please contact Dr. Vanessa Nelson-Reed, education associate for fiscal administration, at vnreed@ed.sc.gov or 803-734-8788.

Parentally Placed Private School Children

This packet includes, as appropriate, the proportional share of funds to be expended for parentally placed private school children. Based on your December 1, 2007, Child Count, the number of parentally placed private school children in your district was 0. The minimal amount your district should spend on parentally placed private school children is $0 from your IDEA dollars and $0 from your IDEA Preschool dollars. As referenced in our July 28, 2005, memorandum, your meaningful consultation with private school representatives should include a discussion of the types of services that will be provided, including direct services and alternate service delivery mechanisms; who will provide special education and related services; how such services will be apportioned if funds are insufficient to serve all students; and how and when these decisions will be made. If through your meaningful consultations you have discovered additional parentally placed private school children since the December 1, 2007, Child Count, you will need to adjust this amount by applying the formula. Appendix A of this letter is an example of how to calculate proportionate share. As always, report the number of parentally placed private school children served by your district on your December 1, 2008, Child Count.

When completing the budget report within the IDEA '04 grant application, write Function/Code PPPSC/149. The dollar amount to be allocated for these services should be assigned to the appropriate cell. If you have any questions regarding completion of your budget for PPPSC, please contact Dr. Vanessa Nelson-Reed, education associate for fiscal administration, at vnreed@ed.sc.gov or 803-734-8788.

Coordinated Early Intervening Services (CEIS)

This packet includes, as appropriate, the amount your district can choose to spend in 2008-09, on comprehensive coordinated early intervening services (CEIS). In the case of districts that have significant disproportionality, this amount is required to be spent on CEIS in 2009-10. These services are provided to students in kindergarten through grade 12 (with a particular emphasis on students in kindergarten through grade three) who are not currently identified as needing special education or related services, but who need additional academic and behavioral supports to succeed in a general education environment. Under 34 CFR §300.646(b)(2), if a state identifies significant disproportionality based on race or ethnicity in an LEA with respect to the identification of children as children with disabilities, the identification of children in specific disability categories, the placement of children with disabilities in particular education settings, or the taking of disciplinary actions, the LEA must reserve the maximum amount (15 percent) of funds allowable for CEIS for children in the LEA, particularly, but not exclusively, for children in those groups that were significantly overidentified. Please note that this amount will be calculated yearly, and districts will be determined to have significant disproportionality based on district data.

When completing the budget report within the IDEA '04 grant application, use Function/Code CEIS/129. While your 15 percent was calculated on both preschool and IDEA, the total amount will be taken from the IDEA. The amount your district is allowed or required to spend on CEIS is $. If you have any questions regarding completion of your budget for CEIS, please contact Dr. Vanessa Nelson-Reed, education associate for fiscal administration, at vnreed@ed.sc.gov or 803-734-8788.

This packet includes, as appropriate, an IDEA '04 preschool grant application with a budget report, an IDEA '04 grant application with a budget report, separate award pages for each grant, and this allocation letter. Your district, state operated program, or Head Start program will submit an original and two copies of the completed application at your earliest convenience. Applications are due November 25, 2008. Any applications received earlier than the due date will receive priority processing.

You can download the FY 2008-09 IDEA '04 preschool and the IDEA '04 grant applications from the Office of Exceptional Children's Web site at <http://www.ed.sc.gov>. Should you have any questions concerning your funding level or the submission of this application, please contact Dr. Vanessa Nelson-Reed, education associate for fiscal administration, at vnreed@ed.sc.gov or 803-734-8788.

Dear Name:

The disproportionate representation of children based on race and ethnicity in special education is a longstanding national issue. Disproportionate representation in special education occurs when children of a particular race/ethnicity are either overrepresented or underrepresented in special education when compared to the education population as a whole. South Carolina has been addressing these complex issues for a number of years through the compliance agreement with the Office for Civil Rights. The changes in the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA) require all states to put forth greater efforts, undertake a more extensive examination of the issues, and implement more extensive remedies when findings of significant disproportionality occur.

States are required to examine data related to disproportionate representation in a variety of methods. IDEA requires states to develop a state performance plan (SPP) which provides for the collection and examination of data to determine if disproportionate representation of racial and ethnic groups in special education and in specific disability categories that is the result of inappropriate identification is occurring. South Carolina addresses this issue through Indicators 9 and 10 of the SPP. The determination of disproportionate representation due to inappropriate identification is made based on a review of a district's use of evaluation and eligibility criteria. The folder reviews are triggered when a district's weighted risk ratio based on the child count data is within the "at risk" category (currently defined as above 2.8).

IDEA also requires states to address disproportionate representation of children based on race and ethnicity by providing for the collection and analysis of data to determine if significant disproportionality based on race and ethnicity is occurring in the state and the districts with respect to the following four categories:

- The identification of children as children with disabilities;
- The identification of children with disabilities in accordance with a particular impairment;
- The placement in particular educational settings of these children; or
- The incidence, duration, and type of disciplinary actions, including suspensions and expulsions.

Unlike the determination of disproportionate representation due to inappropriate identification, the determination of significant disproportionality is based solely on a numerical analysis of the data related to identification, placement, and discipline and cannot include consideration of the state's or districts' policies, procedures, or practices. The determination must be made in all four categories annually. Each state has the discretion to define what constitutes significant disproportionality for its districts as long as the definition is based on an analysis of numerical information and does not include consideration of policies, procedures, or practices.

When a state identifies districts with significant disproportionality in one or more of the four categories, three actions are triggered. The state must provide for the review and revision, if appropriate, of policies, procedures, and practices used in the identification, placement, or disciplining of children with disabilities, to ensure that the policies, procedures, and practices comply with the requirements of IDEA. The state must require the district to publicly report on the revision of policies, procedures, and practices. The state must also require the district to reserve 15 percent of its IDEA funds to be used for coordinated early intervening services (CEIS).

To determine the trigger for CEIS, South Carolina used data from the current and previous years to examine weighted risk ratio distributions calculated on data from Tables 1, 3, and 5. Based on the analysis of data, South Carolina has chosen to define significant disproportionality as a weighted risk ratio above 4.0; the relevant population size is above 25. The table below should prove useful in understanding the breakdown of weighted risk ratios:

Weighted Risk Ratio Range	Category
2.0 – 2.8	May be at risk for developing disproportionate representation
2.9 – above	Disproportionate Representation
4.1 - above	Significant Disproportionality

For the category of identification, South Carolina examines data for the identification of children as children with disabilities and the identification of children as children with particular disabilities (the high incidence categories of learning disabilities, mental disabilities, emotional disabilities, speech-language impairments, other health impairments, and autism). A determination of significant disproportionality is made when a district has a weighted risk ratio above 4.0.

For the category of placement, South Carolina examines data for three placement categories: children who received special education and related services in the regular class no more than 79 percent of the day and no less than 40 percent of the day; children who received special education and related services in the regular class for less than 40 percent of the day; and children who received special education and related services in separate schools and residential facilities. A determination of significant disproportionality is made when a district has a weighted risk ratio above 4.0.

For discipline, South Carolina examines data for incidence, duration, and type of disciplinary action. "Incidence" refers to the number of times children with disabilities were subject to disciplinary actions. "Duration" refers to the length of the disciplinary action (10 days or less and more than 10 days). "Type" refers to in-school and out-of-school actions. A determination of significant disproportionality is made when a district has a weighted risk ratio above 4.0 for incidence and either type (out-of-school suspensions more than 10 days) and/or duration (total disciplinary removals more than 10 days).

Using data reported in Tables 1, 3, and 5 for FFY 07, South Carolina has made determinations for the identification of children as children with disabilities, the identification of children as children with particular disabilities (high incidence disabilities), the placement of children with disabilities in particular education settings, and the incidence, duration, and type of disciplinary actions. When a district met the criteria for any of these areas, the district is determined to have significant disproportionality.

Based on the collection and analysis of data, "LEA" has been determined to have significant disproportionality for identification of "group" as children with disabilities in the category of "disability" with a weighted risk ratio of 4.6.

The determination of significant disproportionality requires the district to submit a plan for the provision of CEIS. The funds for these services may come either from the district's 2008-09 or 2009-10 IDEA grant. Please refer to guidance posted on the OEC website concerning the use of the funds. Plans must be submitted to the OEC through the district's regional representative by May 1, 2009.

The determination also requires the review and revision, if appropriate, of the district's policies, procedures, and practices related to identification and to publically report on any revisions. This review must take place for the category in which the district was determined to have significant disproportionality. The district will be provided with a rubric developed by the National Center for Culturally Responsive Educational Systems (NCCRESt) to assist in this review. This rubric may be found on the OEC website. Any revisions made to policies, procedures, or practices must be reported on publically. The district will be required to describe to the OEC how the public reporting of the revisions occurred. This description is also due to the OEC by May 1, 2009.

The OEC will provide additional guidance concerning significant disproportionality and CEIS as guidance is received from the Office of Special Education Programs and national technical assistance centers. If you have questions, please contact your regional education associate.

The use of CEIS funds has the potential to benefit both general education and special education by assisting districts in identifying and addressing children's learning problems more quickly and effectively. Thank you for your continued efforts to improve services to the children of South Carolina.

Sincerely,

Susan D. DuRant, Director
Office of Exceptional Children

CEIS Procedures

The disproportionate representation of children based on race and ethnicity in special education is a longstanding national issue. South Carolina has been addressing this complex issue for a number of years through the compliance agreement with the Office for Civil Rights. The increased emphasis in the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act (IDEA '04) requires all states to put forth greater efforts, undertake a more extensive examination of the issues, and implement more extensive remedies when findings of significant disproportionality occur. IDEA '04 increases emphasis in two major areas:

- Disproportionate representation § 300.600(d)(3) and
- Significant disproportionality § 300.646

Disproportionate representation in special education occurs when children of a particular race/ethnicity are either overrepresented or underrepresented in special education when compared to the education population as a whole. States are required to examine data related to disproportionate representation using a variety of methods. As part of the State Performance Plan (SPP), IDEA requires states to provide for the collection and examination of data to determine if disproportionate representation is the result of inappropriate identification. The determination of disproportionate representation due to inappropriate identification is a multi-step process triggered by a weighted risk ratio above an established "at risk" level. The weighted risk ratio is calculated from the child count data. The "at risk" trigger gradually decreases as shown in the chart below:

Year	WRR
2005-06	3.0
2006-07	2.8
2007-08	2.8
2008-09	2.5
2009-10	2.3
2010-11	2.0

When the LEA's weighted risk ratio is above the "at risk" trigger, the LEA must initiate folder reviews to determine whether the disproportionate representation is due to inappropriate identification. The folder review focuses attention on eligibility and evaluation requirements. A LEA may have disproportionate representation that is not due to inappropriate identification.

Unlike the multi-step process of determining disproportionate representation, the determination of significant disproportionality is based solely on a numerical analysis of the data with respect to the following four categories:

- The identification of children as children with disabilities;
- The identification of children with disabilities in accordance with a particular impairment;
- The placement in particular educational settings of these children; or
- The incidence, duration, and type of disciplinary actions, including suspensions and expulsions.

If the LEA's weighted risk ratio exceeds the state's established level of significance, the LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality. The determination of significant disproportionality must be made in all four categories annually. Each state has the discretion to define what constitutes significant disproportionality for its LEAs as long as the definition is based on an analysis of numerical information and does not include consideration of policies, procedures, or practices.

When a state identifies LEAs with significant disproportionality in one or more of the four categories, three actions are mandated. The state must:

- Provide for the review and if appropriate, the revision of policies, procedures, and practices used in the identification, placement, or disciplining of children with disabilities, to ensure that the policies, procedures, and practices comply with the requirements of IDEA;
- Require the LEA to publicly report on the revision, if any, of policies, procedures, and practices; and-

- Require the LEA to reserve 15% of its IDEA funds to be used for coordinated early intervening services (CEIS).

Coordinated early intervening services are for students in kindergarten to grade 12 (with a particular emphasis on students in kindergarten through grade 3) who are not currently identified as needing special education or related services, but who need additional academic and behavioral support to succeed in a general education environment. CEIS may include professional development for teachers and other school staff to enable them to deliver scientifically based academic and behavioral interventions, including scientifically based literacy instruction, and where appropriate, instruction on the use of adaptive and instructional software. It may also include the provision of educational and behavioral evaluations, services, and supports, including scientifically based literacy instruction.

To determine the level of significance, the Office of Exceptional Children (OEC) examined the weighted risk ratio distributions calculated on data from Tables 1 (children count), 3 (LRE), and 5 (discipline). The OEC set the level of significance for significant disproportionality as a weighted risk ratio above 4.0; the relevant population size (N) is above 25. When a LEA met the criteria for any of these areas, the LEA is determined to have significant disproportionality

The OEC examines the data from the current federal fiscal year (Table 1, Child Count) in the area of identification, specifically for:

- The identification of children as children with disabilities; and
- The identification of children as children with particular disabilities (the high incidence categories of learning disabilities, mental disabilities, emotional disabilities, speech-language impairments, other health impairments, and autism);

The OEC examines data from the current federal fiscal year (Table 3, LRE) for three placement categories:

- Children who received special education and related services in the regular class no more than 79% of the day and no less than 40% of the day;
- Children who received special education and related services in the regular class for less than 40% of the day; and
- Children who received special education and related services in separate schools and residential facilities.

The OEC examines disciplinary data (Table 5) from the previous school year concerning:

- Incidence - the number of times children with disabilities were subject to disciplinary actions.
- Duration - the length of the disciplinary action (10 days or less and more than 10 days).
- Type - in-school and out-of-school suspension/expulsions.

A determination of significant disproportionality is made when a LEA has a weighted risk ratio of 4.1 or above for incidence and either type (out-of-school suspensions more than 10 days) and/or duration (total disciplinary removals more than 10 days).

The table below provides the breakdown of weighted risk ratios as related to disproportionality:

Weighted Risk Ratio Range	Category
2.0 – 2.8	May be at risk for developing disproportionate representation
2.9 – 4.0	Disproportionate Representation
4.1 - above	Significant Disproportionality

The determination of significant disproportionality requires the LEA to submit to the OEC a plan for the provision of CEIS. The plan must describe the two required components – the review/revision of policies, procedures, and practices and the utilization of the funds.

In component one, the LEA must describe:

- The process to be utilized for the review and if appropriate, the revision of the LEA's policies, procedures, and practices related to the category in which the LEA was determined to have significant disproportionality. The LEA will be provided with a rubric developed by the National Center for Culturally Responsive Educational Systems (NCCRESt) to assist in this review. This rubric may be found on the OEC website as well as at <http://www.nccrest.org/publications/tools.html>; and
- The process for public reporting of any revisions.

In component two, the LEA must describe:

- The method used to identify the "at risk" students;
- The intervention/services;
- The link between the intervention/services selected and the identified students; and
- The method for tracking and reporting.

Although the LEA will not be required to submit the research behind the intervention/services chosen for CEIS, this information must be made available upon request.

There are two reporting requirements associated with CEIS – number of children who received CEIS during the year and number of those children who subsequently go on to receive special education services within two years of receiving CEIS. These reporting requirements are applicable both to LEAs that are required to expend CEIS funds and to LEAs that voluntarily choose to expend CEIS funds.

Each LEA that develops and maintains CEIS is required to report annually to the OEC on the number of children who received CEIS during the year. This report will be provided to the OEC in the form of a web application that will be due in July of each year beginning in July of 2010. Each LEA is responsible for developing its own tracking system that will enable the LEA to report the total number of children identified as receiving CEIS from July 1 to June 30.

The LEA must also report on the number of children identified as needing special education and related services who received CEIS within the previous two FFYs prior to being identified as a "child with a disability" under IDEA. This report will be extracted from Excent by the OEC annually in July beginning in 2010.

The annual timeline for CEIS is as follows:

- CEIS determinations are made in March based on the Child Count, LRE, and discipline data;
- LEAs submit CEIS plans to the OEC for approval by May 1;
- The OEC notifies LEAs of approval of plans by June 1;
- LEAs begin implementation of CEIS plans;
- LEAs collect data concerning number of children receiving services;
- LEAs complete the appropriate field in Excent for any child who is found eligible for special education services and received CEIS anytime within the previous two years;
- LEAs report the number of children who received CEIS during the previous FFY in July;
- The OEC extracts the number of children determined eligible for special education services who received CEIS anytime within the previous two years.
